Ex-police chief lets cat out of the bag

BLACK CRIMINALS GET GREEN LIGHT

POLICE apply totally different rules in their approach to criminal acts by members of racial minority groups to those which govern the rest of the population. Forms of lawbreaking which would not be tolerated if they were committed by White Britons are allowed to go on unhindered if the culprits are Asian or Black.

These revelations were made in early September by David Powis, Deputy Assistant Commissioner of the Metropolitan Police, on his retirement from the force. While still holding his post DAC Powis had felt inhibited from acknowledging the truth and expressing his opinions about it – it might have led to his being carpeted by his superiors and even 'disciplined'. On retiring, however, he at last felt free to speak openly and frankly, which he did in an interview with journalist Max Hastings which was published in the London Standard on the 6th September.

Police policy, said the former Deputy Assistant Commissioner, was to refrain from full and proper application of the law in situations where it might lead to rioting or have an adverse effect on 'race relations'. This policy followed in the wake of the Scarman Report on the Brixton riots of the Spring of 1981, in which there was a virtual whitewash of the Black troublemakers who instigated the riots and an almost total laying of the blame on white British society. Since Scarman many leading police officers had regarded it as their primary duty to avoid further riots at all costs and in pursuit of this aim had desisted from sending their men in to enforce the law in immigrant-intense areas where the result might be to cause serious outbreaks of disorder. Said DAC Powis:–

D.A.C. POWIS
He blew the gaff

> "Toleration of crimes of violence on the basis that riotous reaction must not be provoked is building up to future confrontation."

In other words, the short-term expedient of doing anything to avoid trouble now is going to lead to much bigger trouble later, as truculent Blacks, encouraged in the feeling that they can get away with anything, will regard themselves as given the green light to cause riot and mayhem whenever they feel like it.

INACTION AT CARNIVAL

Powis spoke after his experience with the Notting Hill Carnival, hailed officially as a triumph for community relations and 'softly, softly' policing. In reality, he said, the semblance of peace and order had been achieved at the price of police making no attempt whatever to prevent illegal acts taking place under their very noses, the latter including muggings and the widespread peddling of drugs.

According to the interview, should a White Briton be seen driving drunkenly on the motorway he can expect to be pursued, stopped, prosecuted and dealt with the full vigour of the law. This is because there is little danger that his arrest will provoke a riot or even that he will have the help of the race relations industry or such bodies as the GLC.

But if a Black resident of Brixton decides to open an illegal drinking club in the area there is a good chance that the local police will do nothing whatsoever about it. This is because if the police did move in to close the club down and arrest the offender there would be a very good chance of a riot taking place.

This is leading to immense frustration among ordinary policemen because, according to the report of the interview:–

> "There is a significant, even substantial, number of young men and women in the black community today who consider the freedom to use and if necessary trade in drugs to be among their civil rights.
> "What seems so grossly unjust to the police is that the question of whether or not this civil right is to be conceded should be resolved by unofficial secret understandings imposed upon officers by politicians and community relations officers."

In other words, the decisions as to whether to take action to uphold the law of the land are becoming, increasingly, political decisions, influenced by considerations of politics, rather than decisions made by policemen in accordance with the principle that the law applies equally to all.

PRIVILEGED CLASS

In effect, Blacks and other members of racial minority groups have become a privileged class in Britain, possessing immunity in respect of certain areas of the law – for no other reason than that they and their kinfolk have in the districts in which they congregate a machinery of instant riot and mayhem that can be put into operation the moment that a police officer displeases them by attempting to arrest, or even question, one of their kind.

Native White British people, on the other hand, have no such immunity because they do not possess, and indeed have no mind to create, such a machinery for causing disorder.

People in Britain today, in other words, are liable to come under the strong arm of the law in inverse proportion to the degree to which they respect the law. Those who live in communities that respect and observe the law the most can most expect to be prosecuted if they infringe the law; those who live in communities which treat the law with contempt have the greatest chance of avoiding legal action if they do wrong.

This is Mrs. Thatcher's Britain, the Britain of 1984.

Why then does not this Government – which, we should be reminded, is a Conservative Government – get to grips with this appalling anomaly in the law under which aliens are treated as having superior rights to native British people? Why does it not rectify matters and issue a code of instructions to police chiefs that lawbreakers are to be treated the same everywhere – regardless of race, colour or creed?

Very simply, because this Government knows that if that principle were to be put into practice and the police were to take proper action to stop lawbreaking in immigrant areas such as Brixton, Handsworth, Moss Side and Toxteth, we would have a new outbreak of rioting similar to, if not worse than, that which swept through 40 or 50 towns and cities in 1981.

And that would only serve to underline once again the brutal truth that the multi-racial society in this country is not working – a truth borne out by the events of 3 years ago but which the politicians hope the public has now forgotten.

KIDDING THE PUBLIC

The Government's formula is simple. The British public must be made to think that the building of a multi-racial Britain is proceeding peacefully, amicably and successfully. If we have more race riots, there is a danger that the public will think otherwise.

If anything is done to upset the members of the coloured immigrant communities, there will be more riots – of that we can be certain. Therefore nothing, absolutely nothing, must be done to upset those communities. The coloureds will be upset if the laws of Britain are applied to them just as they are applied to the rest of the population. So we must not apply those laws – we must apply different laws to the Blacks from those we apply to the Whites. We must allow Blacks to get away with criminal actions which we would not allow Whites to get away with. We must, in effect, treat Blacks as a favoured and priviledged species.

BLACKS ON CRIMINAL RAMPAGE
Gang breaks into jewellers during London riot against Deptford fire enquiry

Mugging: the vital statistics

BLACKS have been identified as the assailants in 59 PER-CENT of the muggings reported in the London area in 1983, according to a report published by the Home Office last month. The report said that the figure for white offenders was 20 PER-CENT, while the remaining 21 per-cent of such crimes were committed by people of unidentified race.

The Times* newspaper, in publishing the details of the report, said that Blacks formed about 10 PER-CENT of the younger age groups in the London population to which practically all muggers belonged. If this figure given by The Times is true, it means that the average young Black in London is more than 26 TIMES as likely to commit a mugging offence as the average young White. Probably The Times figure is at least a 50 per-cent under-estimation, in which case the average young Black is about 12-13 TIMES as likely to mug as the average young White. A sobering thought.

WHITES FACING EXTINCTION

THE WHITE RACE is today threatened with extinction.

That much is obviously indicated by population statistics alone. At the turn of the century, when the white man politically dominated the globe, the western world represented 31 per-cent of the total world population, a figure maintained until 1950. At present birth-rates, by 2000 we will be outnumbered by non-whites, who will have a majority of 10 to 1. The 10 per-cent of world population represented by whites will be disproportionately composed of the aged.

Already, in the major European nations, birth-rates have collapsed, largely under the impact of propaganda (from left-wing and anti-white sources) about the "need" to control our population. The birth-rate in Britain has now fallen to 1.7 per woman.

Naturally, the coloured races do not heed the promptings of this propaganda – which is, in any case, intended for whites only.

Overseas, African populations are doubling over periods of time averaging between 20 and 30 years. It is estimated that the population of Nigeria will have risen, by the year 2000, from its present level of 84 million to no less than 148 million. As a result of this population explosion across the African continent these races, made prolific by "aid" from Britain, Europe and America, improvidently breed far beyond the carrying capacity of the territories in which they live.

As such peoples die like flies in the consequent famines, the alien masters of our mass media subject our people to a torrent of sickening and hypocritical liberal humanitarian bilge about "compassion for the unfortunate" and "human brotherhood". This is obviously designed to cripple the white man's will – so that he will ultimately open his borders to yet more of the "Third World's" surplus population.

Meanwhile, in our own midst, we already have coloured minorities, especially Asians, reproducing at an enormous rate, much more comparable with the Indian sub-continent than with the birth-rate of the British people. The effort to displace the native British in their own country by expanding the alien enclaves is well under way.

These population facts correspond with vitally important psychological facts. A declining population is symptomatic of a weary defeatism, deliberately inculcated in our case by the coalition of liberals, communists and traitors who have been allowed to brainwash our people with their spiritual poison.

The first task of nationalism is to proclaim anew the dynamic values of racial expansion which the white race must rediscover in order to repossess the earth.

We must once again be prepared to dominate others by force.

To do this we must rebuild our numbers.

BLACK THUG GOES SCOT-FREE AFTER TUBE TERROR

WHILE BRITAIN'S POLICE are clearly under orders to desist from arresting coloured lawbreakers in situations which might lead to rioting or a breakdown in 'race relations', those coloured offenders who fail to escape prosecution in this way have a very good chance, when they get to court, of getting off with ludicrously lenient sentences and sometimes getting let off completely.

This was the case with James Carmichael, an unemployed Black from Dalston, who recently appeared at Clerkenwell Magistrates' Court following an affray on an underground train in which he terrorised the passengers.

Carmichael, said the prosecuting counsel, drew a knife when on the train and tried to mug the other occupants. Shouting and screaming threats at the passengers, at one stage he placed the knife blade across the throat of an elderly woman, causing her to shake with fear.

When the train stopped at Kings Cross one angry and alarmed passenger informed police and Carmichael was arrested after a violent struggle during which he had to be handcuffed.

Carmichael had previous convictions for possessing drugs, having a knife as an offensive weapon and travelling on a train without paying.

Yet at the end of the hearing he walked free from the court having only received a formal penalty of £25. On learning of the ridiculous verdict, he said, "Cheers, you're cool" to the Magistrate.

In addition to this, Carmichael was given a free rail ticket to Birmingham so that he could stay there with his parents.

The Carmichael case is not unique but is typical of the manner in which courts around the country deal with offenders belonging to ethnic minority groups.

This is the Government which, in chorus with the expensive race relations industry which it has created and which it maintains at the cost of the taxpayer, tells us every day that all races are 'equal' and that it is dedicated to 'racial equality'.

Could there be any greater testimony to the fact that 'racial equality' is a gigantic fraud and that the multi-racial experiment in Britain is an unmitigated disaster?

We should be grateful to former Deputy Assistant Commissioner Powis for speaking out – even if a little late in the day. He has told us what British Nationalist has long known but which the Government has been desperate to keep from the people. He has blown the gaff. He has taken the lid off the conspiracy of lies and deceit which serves to mask the consequences of the coloured invasion of Britain.

Let us work to achieve the day when those responsible for this conspiracy, this treason against the British people and this corruption of our country's proud traditions of law, receive their just deserts!

Decadence on display

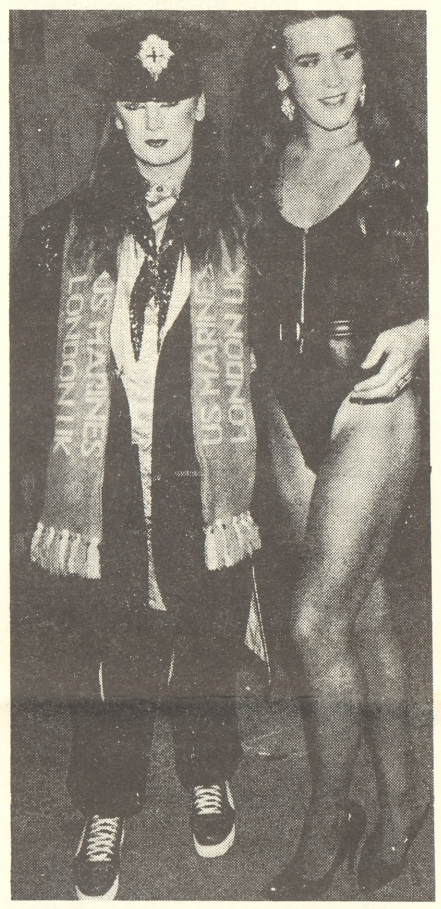
Boy George is attending a party with a companion going under the name of 'Jemma'. In case you haven't already guessed, Jemma is actually male – well at least not female.

This is a not untypical scene from the seedy and decadent world of 'pop', which wields so much influence over the minds of young British people. Boy George, incidentally, has been praised by the Government for helping Britain's export trade!



NF poll flop

THE NATIONAL FRONT fared disastrously in the four recent GLC by-elections. In Paddington the NF candidate obtained 123 votes (0.78 per-cent of the poll); in Edmonton the party managed 167 votes (1.35 per-cent of the poll); in Hayes and Harlington the score was 227 votes (1.39 per-cent of the poll), while the best result was in Lewisham West, where the figure was 266 votes (1.69 per-cent of the poll).

The full calamity that this represents for the NF can only be understood when it is realised that, not only was the party able to concentrate all its campaigning resources in these 4 areas, but in each area there was no Tory candidate standing against the NF.

SORRY WE'RE LATE

WE APOLOGISE to readers for the fact that there has been no issue of British Nationalist for over 2 months. This delay in publication has been caused by production staff holidays, followed by a backlog of post-holiday work in other departments. As from this month we shall be resuming regular monthly publication.

THE EVIL OF 'THE BOX' by KEN USHER

THE RECENT EXPERIMENTS in Britain and America where television was banned have turned out to be a complete success. Families, instead of watching TV all hours of the day, have found other interesting things to do. In the past the families in question hardly spoke to each other while viewing, and when they were not watching TV they talked about what they had just watched. While the ban continued they have found once again how enjoyable reading is. The families now have long talks, which in the past was impossible. The children are now the focus of attention and games are the order of the day, mum and dad enjoying them just as much as the children.

It is quite amazing, the power of television these days: how it can hold a person hours on end in a zombie-like state, fed mostly on soap operas. If these experiments have proved anything it is the fact that people can get along without TV. In fact people today are much too reliant on the box in the corner. People do not realise that this instrument for 'entertainment' is being used by alien interlopers to brainwash people into the glories of multiracialism. People who buy our paper British Nationalist for the first time can look at today's problems in another light, and because what we say is the truth Nationalists, and especially the British National Party, are not allowed a say on television.

Television at the moment is utterly corrupt. Almost everything it produces is anti-British, but if you are fed on it twenty four hours a day, as our people are, then in the end you have little other choice but to believe it. Television today is assaulting the mind of everybody. This is happening right here and now, and it is only just 1984. Big Brother is here; he has arrived, as we Nationalists know only too well, and it is going to take a big effort by all of us to rid our society of this evil instrument. Remember the old saying: "I give you sex, I give you violence, I give you thrills; all I ask in return is your mind."

YOUR LETTERS

Sir,–Take a walk around London today and you will most probably see the posters of the GLC saying: "If you don't want us, you should have the right to say so," or "Say No to No Say."

This is typical of these left-wing Labour councillors who parade under the banner of democracy.

At the moment there is a mini-war going on in Tower Hamlets over a block of flats that these "democratic" councillors want to call "Blair Peach House", after the communist Hackney school teacher who got himself killed whilst attacking the police in Southall in 1979. Although the councillors want this name, the tenants of Greenaways Estate – where the flats are situated – want the block named "Sidney Godley House" after a local hero who won the Victoria Cross during the War.

The local press ran a mini-referendum asking what local people thought. The result was over a thousand against the adoption of Blair Peach's name and only four in favour!

To name the block Blair Peach House, the council had to go to the GLC to get the name rubber-stamped. Even with these GLC lunatics screaming about 'democracy' at every chance they get, they voted by 6 to 5 to accept the name – ignoring the feelings of the local people with contempt.

The battle goes on, as local residents have pledged themselves to remove the Blair Peach nameplate if it is put up and to substitute one for Sidney Godley.

BARRY OSBORNE,
London E.2

Sir,–The Daily Telegraph recently reported that this year's Notting Hill Carnival is considered to have been a "major success". It is utterly incredible that anyone can so regard the carnival when the reported crimes committed amount to an increase of 30 per-cent over last year's figure, and when in one case alone eight knife-wielding black thugs robbed more than two dozen tube travellers of their possessions.

How many more years must we endure the outrageous behaviour witnessed in our capital city each August before the authorities can be galvanised into taking the appropriate action? The Carnival is seemingly little more than an excuse to allow the "ethnic minorities" to indulge in lawlessness with even less restraint than they normally do; it should never have been permitted in the first place and should be banned forthwith.

JEWISH TERRORISTS TAKE THE OFFENSIVE

Kach gangsters guard West Bank Jewish settlement

'The Jewish people cannot ever be destroyed, but rather they and their God of history will emerge in days to come triumphant over the evils and the foolishness of all other nations."—RABBI MEIR KAHANE, Jewish Press, Brooklyn, November 9, 1973.

"Kach maintains that it is the duty of every Jew to break the law without hesitation if it conflicts with the higher interests of the Jewish people."—News report in THE TIMES

THE RECENT ARREST in Israel of a number of Jews on charges of terrorism has lifted the lid on the activities of a violent, fanatical and politically influential Jewish thug element.

Much of the inspiration has come from the "Kach" organisation of Rabbi Meir Kahane. The Hebrew word "Kach" means "thus" and goes with a clenched fist symbol, signifying the violence which Kahane and his followers aim to incite.

The hard core of Kach's membership was originally drawn from young Jewish immigrants to Israel from both the West (principally the US) and the Soviet Union, all alike openly motivated by belief in the "master race" status of the Jews vis-à-vis Gentiles in general, and the residual Arab population in Israel, and the territories it occupies, in particular.

In the United States, where he originated, Rabbi Kahane was instrumental in forming a thug organisation called the Jewish Defence League, composed of hit men from the New York Jewish underworld, whose function is to threaten violence against any American citizen who takes exception to the Jewish political and economic domination of his nation.

Among those to be recently threatened with mayhem by the JDL was prominent Hollywood actor Robert Mitchum. Mitchum's "offence" was to have disputed the claim that the Jews suffered a "holocaust" in World War Ii. The JDL applied the pressure of its usual threats unless he recanted his views and fell in line with the orthodox dogmas imposed on Gentiles through the Jewish-owned and controlled mass media.

PARANOID

Rabbi Kahane has a paranoid view of the world in which the Jewish people live constantly under persecution at the hands of "anti-Semites". The Jews are held to be in imminent danger of destruction at the hands of their non-Jewish neighbours. "Nobody will ever lift a finger to help the Jews," screams Kahane's propaganda, "so we must look after ourselves. Anything is justified to ensure our survival."

The unique wealth, power and privilege enjoyed by Jews everywhere, especially in the United States, does nothing to moderate this hysterical point of view.

For conspiring to manufacture explosives a US court gave Kahane nothing more than a rap over the knuckles in the form of a five-year suspended sentence.

Transplanted to Israel, Kahane was not slow to resume his preferred form of political activity. Following the tradition established by an earlier generation of Jewish terrorists his "Kach" organisation advocates the elimination of all non-Jewish elements.

Christian places of worship, including a Russian Orthodox convent and a Baptist church in Jerusalem, have been bombed. Kach hit-squads have also conspired to bomb the Al-Aksa mosque and the Dome of the Rock, two of the holiest places in the Arab world. For the rest, Kach activities have involved harassment, assaults, random murders, bombs and booby traps, and assassination attacks on leaders of the Arab population in the occupied West Bank.

For all this the only punishment Kahane has ever received has consisted in very short, token prison sentences, showing that the dominant view among Israel's Jews is evidently favourable to his aims and methods. These have been taken up and surpassed by a Jewish underground, styling itself "Terror Against Terror", which is influential among members of the Israeli Army and West Bank Jewish settlers who wish to oust the Arab population from this conquered territory by violent means.

Some members of this underground have been arrested and may be tried, but are unlikely to be seriously punished. When Kahane was detained on one previous occasion, Jewish supporters in Israel and the United States easily prevailed upon Prime Minister Menachem Begin (ex-Irgun Zvei anti-British terrorist leader) to revoke the detention order.

SUPPORT AT THE POLLS

The recen. General Election in Israel brought unprecedented political success for the individuals and parties most strongly sympathetic towards terrorist methods and genocidal aims. Kahane himself gained a seat in the Knesset (the Israeli Parliament) by proclaiming a strident message of bloody "retribution" against Israel's Arab enemies.

The greatest progress was made with the voters by the Tehiya party of former Army Chief of Staff, Rafael Eitan, whose battle honours have included the genocidal invasion of Lebanon in 1982. According to Eitan the Arabs of the territories occupied by Israel are like "cockroaches in a bottle." The leader of one other group, Rabbi Haim Druckman, responded to the mutilation of two West Bank Arab mayors, the result of a Jewish terrorist bomb attack, with an exultant quotation from the Book of Judges: "May all thine enemies perish thus."

Kahane's confidence that his ideology is shared by far more Jews than would ever be so incautious as to admit it openly would seem to have been vindicated. As the Deputy Leader of Kach remarked:

> "Rabbi Kahane has always said what some Jews fear to say . . . and his message is increasingly understood here."

It is not to be supposed that the attitudes of Meir Kahane and his ilk are restricted to Jews in Israel and apply only to relations between them and the Arabs. The record of Kahane himself both in America and Israel clearly shows that, for such elements, all non-Jews are lumped together as enemies to be destroyed or conquered. It shows also that these attitudes, now displayed so freely and publicly in ruling circles in Israel, are also influential within Jewish communities all over the West.

...and yesterday

Jewish gangsters waged vicious anti-British terror campaign in Palestine

"An Englishman would always be a filthy Goy, who could be killed for this reason alone."—"AVNER", ex-Stern Gang terrorist, in his MEMOIRS OF AN ASSASSIN (N.Y., 1960).

"Whenever a British soldier is killed, I make a little holiday in my heart."—BEN HECHT, Hollywood Jewish Scriptwriter.

IN 1944, British soldiers were dying in Europe to make Germany safe for the Jews. Meanwhile, Jews in Palestine were murdering other British soldiers.

Britain had held a Mandate to administer Palestine since 1919. In accordance with the Balfour Declaration of 1917 (the result of a deal between the British Government and the Zionist leaders of American Jewry whereby the latter applied the pressure on the US Government necessary to bring America into the First World War), Palestine was to be made a "national home" for the Jews.

Between the Wars Palestine was flooded with Zionist Jews determined to seize this land, to which they had no historical claim whatever, by establishing a numerical majority of their own people. The Arab population, settled in the country for 1,500 years, was to be forcibly expelled.

MENACHEM BEGIN
Once Irgun terrorist. Later Prime Minister of Israel

Britain attempted to keep the peace between Jew and Arab by restricting Jewish immigration. No matter how she favoured the Jews in all other respects, they still howled "anti-Semitism!"

Britain had poured out her best blood in World War II to end the German threat to Jewish ambitions. Nevertheless, Jewish leaders decided in 1944 that the time was ripe, now that Germany was almost out of the way, to settle accounts with Britain.

On 1st January the Zionist Federation Conference gave the green light for "the maximum effort to be used in securing a Jewish state in Palestine."

BOMB PLOT

The Irgun Zvei Leumi, a Jewish terrorist organisation previously engaged in acts of violence and murder against the Palestinians, turned its attention to blowing up British soldiers and police, or shooting them in the back. On February 8th a British policeman was shot dead at St. Georges Cathedral, Jerusalem, by two Jews whom he was attempting to arrest. Police believed that he had in fact interrupted, and thereby foiled, a bomb plot by the Stern Gang, a particularly vicious faction of the Irgun specialising in anti-British activity.

This opened a campaign of murder against individual members of the British armed forces and police which cost a large number of lives even before the Second World War had ended.

This initial campaign culminated in the murder of Lord Moyne, British Minister and resident in the Middle East, in November 1944. Lord Moyne was at that time concerned with working out a fair and just solution between Palestinian Arabs and Jews. This was not wanted by the Jews. Two Stern Gang members, according to reports Jewish soldiers recruited in Palestine for the British Army in North Africa, gunned down the Minister and his chauffeur on a Cairo street.

The British Government of Winston Churchill displayed a weak liberal gutlessness, and subservience under Jewish pressure, absolutely characteristic of the British establishment throughout the terrorist campaign in Palestine. The Zionist lobby in Parliament was so powerful that, as Lord Winterton commented:

> "No action will be taken for fear of fomenting anti-Semitism here, and doing mischief to our relations with America."

INGRATITUDE

With the end of the war in Europe, Jewish gratitude towards Britain for the part that she had played in saving Jewry from Hitler was expressed by greatly stepped-up anti-British terrorism. The British were denounced as the "new Nazis".

On April 28th, 1946, 40 heavily-armed Jewish terrorists infiltrated Sixth Airborne Division's camp in Tel Aviv. Two sleeping soldiers were riddled with automatic fire where they lay. Two others who came to their assistance were mown down by a group of waiting Jews. Two soldiers were shot dead in the neighbouring vehicle park and a lance-corporal was shot in the mouth and chest by Jews from the local community, acting as lookouts.

THATCHER IN THE GRIP OF THE JEWS

MRS. THATCHER has recently accepted the Presidency of the North London Area Council of the Conservative Friends of Israel (CFI).

This Jewish lobby group holds that Israel's annexation of East Jerusalem (seized from Jordan, a state traditionally allied with Britain, during the 1967 war) is legitimate. It defends the continued occupation and settlement of other lands seized by Israel, despite the fact that alignment with the Jewish State in its repeated aggressions has caused Western countries, including our own, nothing but harm by wrecking our relations with Middle Eastern states for no gain whatsoever to ourselves. In fact only harm has come to us through this policy.

The CFI can only be seen as a body which lends moral support to the gangster-terrorist element currently making such strides in Israeli politics. This element is particularly strong among the Gush Emunim Setttlers' Movement in the Jewish-occupied West Bank of the Jordan.

Mrs. Thatcher has identified herself with the CFI in direct contradiction to her public stance of "fairness" and "even-handedness" over the Arab-Israeli conflict.

She has also, for the sake of the Zionist cause, contravened an established convention whereby ministers, and even shadow ministers, do not associate too intimately with lobby groups. During his premiership even a politician as slavishly pro-Jewish and pro-Zionist as Harold Wilson rejected the presidency of the Labour Friends of Israel.

Mrs. Thatcher is MP for Finchley, a constituency so dominated by Jews that any offence against Jewish sensibilities would immediately cost her her seat, and probably her political career.

JEWS' TOADY Mrs. Thatcher seen here with a gathering of Jewish schoolchildren, has furthered her career by currying favour with the 'Chosen Race'

Good camp

THE SUMMER CAMP organised in Cornwall by the South Western Region of the British National Party was greatly enjoyed by all. There was swimming in the bay overlooked by Tintagel Castle, together with rough shooting over private land.

The attendance at the camp was smaller than expected but the organisers are optimistic that, in view of the success of the camp, it will attract more people when held next year.

David Bearsford Walker is particularly to be thanked for the great effort and expense he put into promoting the camp.

HALIFAX ON THE MOVE

THE HALIFAX GROUP of the British National Party, first set up some months ago, is now starting to make a real impact in the area and has greatly extended the range of its activities. Recently the group held its first meeting, which attracted about 25 people and was addressed by Stanley Clayton-Garnett and David Owens. The meeting attracted publicity in the local paper, in which it was falsely reported that opponents had succeeded in stopping it taking place.

Regular literature distribution and paper sales have now begun in the Halifax area under the leadership of the keen young Organiser Stuart Cowling.

British Nationalist, though it believes in racial differences, opposes race-hatred. All those who oppose multi-racialism should attack the politicians who promote it, not the immigrants, who are merely its victims.

BOOKS

THE B.N.P. BOOK SERVICE is now in operation and is fast expanding its range of books. As these are available, they will be advertised in British Nationalist. Any books currently not in stock can be obtained on order if the purchaser is prepared for a slight wait. TERROR IN PALESTINE

GOC General Cassels had no doubt that the local Jewish community knew all about the crime in advance. "I hold the community to blame," he said. "They knew about this outrage."

The High Commissioner for Palestine stated: "The attack by Jewish terrorists on the 6th Airborne was nothing less than premeditated murder. This was gangsterism in its worst form."

HOTEL BLOWN UP

On July 22nd, 1946, at 12.37 pm, an immense explosion from a bomb planted by Menachem Begin's Irgun terrorists, demolished part of the King David Hotel in Jerusalem. Two smaller bombs had exploded in neighbouring buildings 15 minutes earlier. The whole thing was deliberately arranged so that when the hotel bomb went off there would be numerous rescuers of those injured and trapped in the first two explosions to be buried in rubble from the tall hotel building. 91 British men, women and children were killed. The hotel was given a telephone warning from Irgun only 2 minutes before the main blast.

As Begin remarked years later, this act was undertaken on behalf of the Jewish Agency, the official Jewish body in Palestine. British police had seized documents from the Agency which had been stored at their HQ in the hotel. These clearly showed that, despite its claims of "moderation" and public disavowal of terrorism, the Agency knew about and favoured the actions of the terrorist Haganah organisation.

Following the destruction of these documents in the hotel blast, the Jewish Agency felt free to issue its usual hypocritical condemnations of violence, all eagerly published in the British press.

In December 1946 three officers of the Parachute Regiment were abducted by Irgun terrorists and whipped with metal cables. This was in retaliation for the infliction of floggings by British military courts on captured terrorists. The British Government responded by banning the use of flogging on Jewish terrorists. This weak surrender to Jewish pressure by establishment politicians in London merely encouraged further outrages.

On March 2nd, 1947, the Goldsmith Officers' Club, opposite the Jewish Agency building and a synagogue in the centre of Jerusalem, was blown up in violation of a Sabbath truce. 19 officers were killed and 26 injured. The Times expressed the opinion that the local Jewish community had had foreknowledge of what was intended, and that the congregation pouring from the synagogue had collaborated with the terrorists by crowding the pavement in order to conceal the installation of a Bren-gun position opposite the Club. This was positioned so that it could mow down any survivors from the explosion.

On April 22nd, 1947, the 2 am Cairo to Haifa train struck a mine, planted by the Stern Gang, at Rehoboth. Survivors from the burning wreckage were machine-gunned. 6 British soldiers and a Polish ATS girl were killed. 21 soldiers and civilians were seriously injured. A second atrocity took place at this location in 1948, when 27 British soldiers were killed.

On Saturday 12th July, 1947, two Intelligence Corps sergeants, Clifford Martin and Mervyn Paice, left a cafe in Naithanya after an evening drink. An Irgun terrorist team drew up beside them in a car, clubbed them, piled them into the vehicle and chloroformed them. After imprisonment for a week in an unlit, badly ventilated cell underneath a diamond factory, the two British sergeants were taken out and hung with wire so that they slowly strangled.

Their bodies were strung up in a eucalyptus grove. A landmine had been laid beneath the first body in such a way that, as it was cut down, the body would fall on it. In the explosion, the British officer carrying out this duty was seriously injured.

Finally, in 1948, the British Government and establishment feebly surrendered to a combination of terrorism in Palestine and Zionist influence at home, both veiled in a shroud of sympathy, created by claims of a "Jewish holocaust" in Germany. This has continued to be, in the words of one prominent American Rabbi, "The principal Jewish means of pressure against the Gentile world."

Thus there remains still, for the British people, a debt of honour to be claimed, for which a new style of political leadership will be required.

WHAT WE STAND FOR
